Admiral Stark Says Warnings Were Sufficient

Chief Of Naval Operations
At Time Of Pearl Harbor
Attack Testifies

PROBERS RESUME HEARINGS TODAY

(Bulletin)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—Admiral Harold R. Stark told the Pearl Harbor committee today that he considered his warnings in 1941 "adequate" to alert Hawaii against the Japanese sneak attack.

The 1941 chief of naval operations insisted that his correspondence with the Pacific commanders for two years before the disaster indicated that "the danger of war with Japan and a possible surprise attack on Pearl Harbor and mainland of meeting it had been fully considered."

Stark was the first witness as the 10-man committee reconvened following its Christmas recess. In an 80-page statement supported by two volumes of correspondence, he answered publicly for the first time a navy board charge that he failed to give Hawaii "important information."

He said:
"I considered that the letters and dispatches I sent to commanders-in-chief, Asiatic Fleet, and commander-in-chief, Pacific fleet, were sufficient to keep them informed on the important military and political developments in the Pacific as we considered them."

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa. News extends greetings and best wishes for the New Year to all readers of The News, on behalf of the entire Pa. News family.

Another high school class is approaching graduation time it is apparent. Members of the senior class are wearing blue and white dinks, a symbol of the coming commencement time, Pa. News notes.

Apparently some young people in the city got toboggans for Christmas. Pa. News saw a number of girls on the outskirts of the city bringing their toboggans home from a trip to the snowy hillsides of Neshaunock township, recently.

Christmas trees and decorations around the city will begin to come down after tomorrow. Usually trees and decorations stay up until after New Year's Day.

Fire at the Super-Market last week will raise the fire losses in the city for the year closing today to a larger total than for several years past. New Castle was remarkably free of serious fires during the war years.

Hear some one remark yesterday that "1946 will be the first year in some six past years that will arrive without a military escort."

Rising waters of the Shenango took away the ice which had formed during the cold spell prior to Christmas. The river was up over the ten foot stage this morning, due to rains and melting snow.

Highland hill was very slick this morning, so slick at 8 o'clock that motorists were proceeding with great caution and a short way below Lincoln avenue a bus was pulled up to the curb and was discharging its passengers, apparently afraid to continue the trip down until the ash truck came.

City Prepares To Greet New Year

Feeling confident that you want to keep abreast of the current events through this great family journal we would like to mention that tonight is New Year's Eve and at 12 January 1, 1946. Or did you know?

Welcoming the new year in will be done in the usual fashion, some of them that would meet with the hearty approval of the Board of Temperance Morals and others that will have the participants wondering about noon tomorrow if everybody got out from the wreckage.

Watch Night Services.
For those who prefer to watch the new year come in, in a solemn manner, there are many.

U.S. Delegates Leave For UNO London Session

Mrs. Roosevelt Among Group Going To Momentous United Nations'
Meetings

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(INS)—The giant Cunarder Queen Elizabeth sailed with the tide today carrying a group of Americans and Canadians on the most momentous mission of their lives.

They were delegates to the London conference of the United Nations organization and they included Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Sen. Tom Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee; Sen. Arthur Vandenberg, (R., Mich.), Edward R. Stettinius, former secretary of state; Louis St. Laurent, Canadian minister of justice and Paul Martin, Canadian secretary of state.

Predict Success.
Though they were far from talkative, the delegates were unanimous in predicting success for this crucial session of the UNO. St. Laurent said:

"After the very successful meeting of the foreign secretaries in Moscow, I feel very much more encouraged over the possibility of achieving full success—far more than I felt a few weeks ago."

The Elizabeth, largest ship afloat, carried 1,128 passengers on the trip, 495 civilians including the UNO delegates, and 633 British and Dutch Marines going home from the war. Though it was an important voyage there was little dramatic fanfare.

Great Responsibility.
Senators Vandenberg and Connally went on board, declaring that they "faced a great responsibility" and predicting success for the conference.

Mrs. Roosevelt, who had suggested that the delegation appoint an official spokesman, said she would rather not pose for pictures, but agreed when the photographers begged. She told reporters:

"I feel I am facing a great responsibility."
Stettinius declined to comment on any phase of the conference. However, he posed for pictures with Mrs. Roosevelt and Senators Connally and Vandenberg on the pier. They went aboard again and the big ship started on her 3,000-mile journey to Europe and the problem of world peace.

Find Sledge Hammer.
Nine-pound sledge hammer used to wreck then enter the Meek Jewelry store safe last week was found yesterday by a Fomelle Coal company employee, according to Police Chief Robert D. Hanna. The key in diamonds and other jewelry stolen from the store amounted to thousands of dollars, according to A. W. Meek, owner. No trace of the thieves or jewelry has yet been found.

Backed By Heredity

Here's a curious analogy. Lovely screen star Lynn Bari is known around Hollywood as the girl with the "million dollar figure." One of her forebears was also pretty well known in the figure line. He was Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury in George Washington's cabinet.

Though they were far from talkative, the delegates were unanimous in predicting success for this crucial session of the UNO. St. Laurent said:

Secretary Byrnes Ready To Defend Moscow Results

Signs Appearing Of Trouble
Spots On Some Of Agreements By Foreign Ministers

SOME ANSWERS MADE ON RADIO

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, in fighting mood, today stood ready to defend the accomplishments of his Moscow conference of the "Big Three" foreign ministers.

Signs were already beginning to appear that he would face trouble spots in many areas as a result of the agreements reached. He answered some of them in a radio address delivered last night over national hook-ups.

Basic in Byrnes' defense of his accomplishments was the suggestion that diplomatic relations had been restored and machinery set up for the meeting of future problems. This was Byrnes' idea when he suggested the Moscow conference.

Defends Far East Plan.
Primary in his defense of the Moscow agreements was his emphasis that the powers of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander in the Far East, would not be impaired.

Byrnes declared:
"Under the agreement establishing the 'Far Eastern' commission, no basic Allied policy for Japan may be adopted without our concurrence."

"Pending agreement in the Far Eastern commission in case of need we are free to give interim directives on all urgent matters. The questions reserved for action by the commission—which action requires our concurrence—are questions dealing with changes in the control of Japan as set forth in the surrender terms or with fundamental changes in the Japanese constitutional structure or with changes in the Japanese government as a whole."

The Secretary added that the United States, Russia and Britain were determined that the "outstanding and efficient administration set up and executed by Gen. MacArthur should not be obstructed."

No Atomic Secrets Given.
Byrnes placed at the end of his talk the matter of atomic energy.

Report Declares Bormann Taken

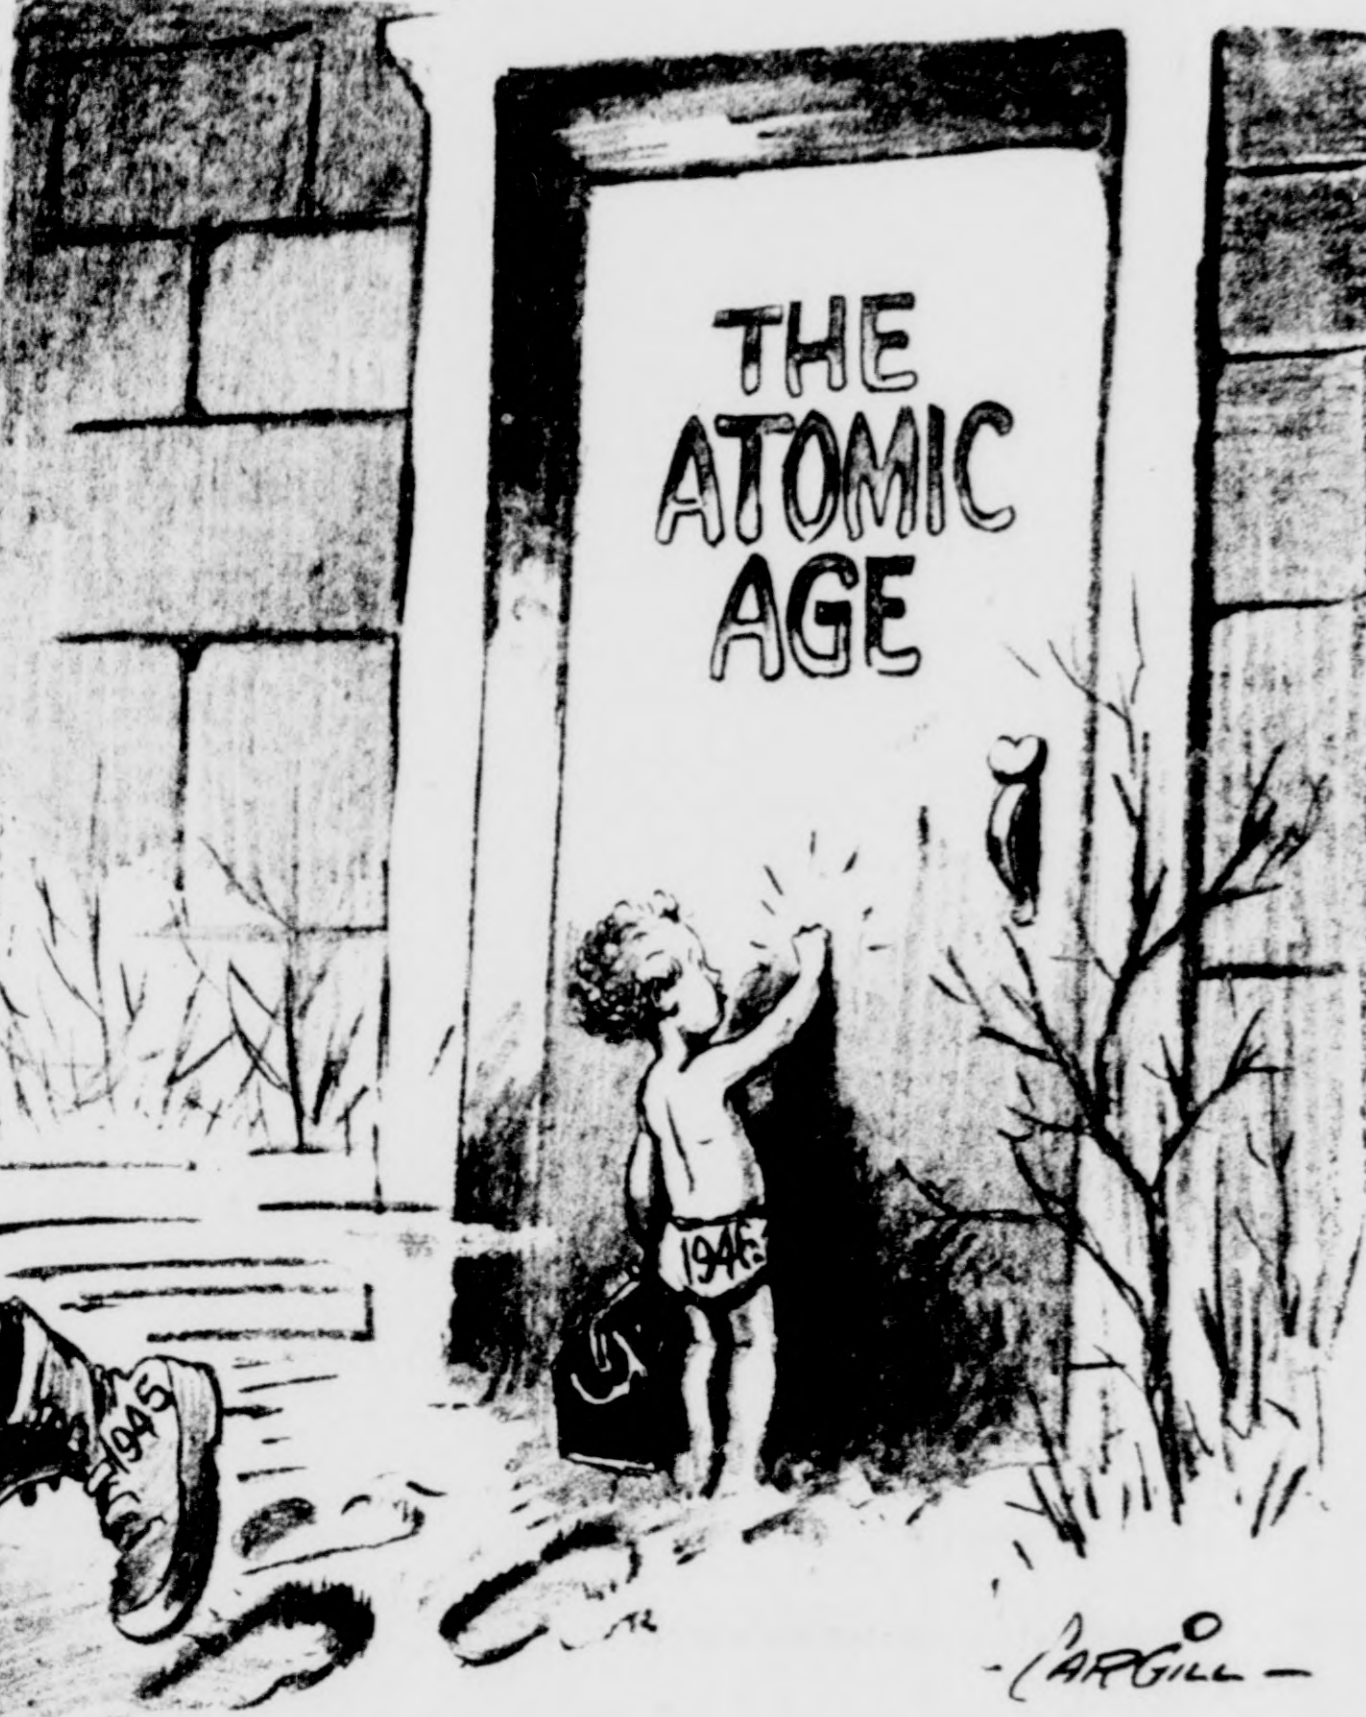

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—A Reuter dispatch from Nuremberg said today that Martin Bormann, former Nazi deputy fuhrer, had been arrested in the British zone in Germany.

Bormann was thought to be dead. Reuter gave Czechoslovakian newspapers as the source of the report.

The news agency added that security officers at Nuremberg refused to confirm or deny that Bormann, if arrested, would appear at the present war crimes trial.

The deputy fuhrer is being tried in absentia.

THE CHILD DESERTER

Airliner Crashes Into East River At New York City

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(INS)—Civil Aeronautics administration officials today probed into last night's LaGuardia Field accident in which an Eastern Airlines plane with 11 passengers aboard plunged into the East River, causing the death of a woman passenger.

The two-motor ship, an hour and a half late on its northbound trip from Florida arrived over LaGuardia Field at 9:14 when the ceiling was lowered to 600 feet by rain and fog. After circling the field once, the big DC-3 transport attempted a landing on the north-south runway.

The ship's wheels did not touch the ground until three-fourths of the runway had been passed. Still going at a comparatively high speed, it bounced twice, overshoot the tip of the landing strip and settled in the chill waters of Borey Bay.

Plane Begins to Sink.
Almost immediately, the plane began to sink near the spot where last February 15 a B-29 Superfortress fell, killing five of its 10 passengers, including the pilot, Maj. Billy Southworth, son of St. Louis Cardinals manager William H. Southworth.

Airport sirens brought rescue craft diving on the scene from all directions as the plane settled and finally sank in the shallow water while the passengers and crew stood first on a wing and then floundered in the bay.

The lone fatality was that of Mrs. Grace M. Seilly, 49, of New York, who died in the airport's Administration building as a pulmonary was being applied.

Pilot Is Killed In Plane Crash Near Lewistown

LEWISTOWN, Pa., Dec. 31.—(INS)—Poor visibility coupled with possible engine trouble was blamed today for the death of the pilot in the crash of a private airplane Sunday near Lewistown.

State Police Sgt. Ray Sprengle of the Lewistown sub-station, identified the pilot as James Edward Williams, Jr., of Spring City, Chester county.

Sprengle said the pilot was decelerated in the crash which was followed by exploding gasoline. The plane spun into the earth at Cocconius, he added.

Give Up Hope For 17 Trapped Miners

Rescuers Abandon Hope Of Finding Men Still In Kentucky Mine Alive

PINEVILLE, Ky., Dec. 31.—(INS)—Seventeen of 31 coal miners entombed by an explosion in a mine near Pineville remained unaccounted for today as new fires in the long tunnel forced all except fire fighters to abandon rescue operations temporarily.

Rescue and mine officials virtually gave up hope of finding any of the 17 men alive. They have been trapped in the two and a half mile bore since last Wednesday morning.

The number of known dead in the disaster rose to seven yesterday with the death in the Pineville hospital of one of the eight miners brought out alive last Friday. He was Thomas McQueen, 30, of Pineville.

The other six were either found dead or died before they could be removed from the tunnel. Four badly crushed bodies were found late Saturday near where the main force of the explosion is believed to have been felt.

Two of the bodies found Saturday were removed from the tunnel and the other two were temporarily bypassed as rescue workers strove to reach the men still trapped in the mine.

Roads

He predicted snow flurries and colder weather for the New Year's Day, which brought a warning from State police to celebrators to drive carefully on the ice coated highways.

New Year's Day Parade Planned In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31.—(INS)—Some five thousand "golden slipper" shoe Mummer's made final preparations today to "shoot the works" in their first postwar New Year's Day parade.

The gay extravaganza will start before an estimated one million people tomorrow morning and is expected to be the grandest, most expensive in history.

A traditional New Year's Day ceremony in Philadelphia, 20 clubs will march in the realm of King Mummer's parade, competing for some $15 thousand in prizes offered by city council.

All of the fine plumage, the sparkling headpieces and glamorous satin costumes, missing during the war years because of a shortage of materials, will re-appear in tomorrow's festival.

In the ranks of the gaily-costumed parade, the "golden slipper" shoe Mummer's will be prominent.

Orders Jap School Books Destroyed

Said he: "Rumors that we have chosen a site within the Boston area are completely false."

HOLIDAY SERVICE AT POST OFFICE

Nation All Set For Jubilant New Year's Eve

First Peace Time Hilarious
Celebration Since Pearl Harbor Is Scheduled

MILLIONS WILL SHARE PROGRAMS

(By International News Service)

The nation was set today to whoop it up on a grand scale tonight for the most jubilant New Year's Eve celebration since Pearl Harbor.

Regardless of weather conditions, it promised to be the "wettest" nationwide New Year's Eve party on record. Night spots from coast to coast—from the swankiest Broadway district to Mudville's corner tavern—were ready for a land-office business.

Millions of Americans from all walks of life will celebrate release—at long last—from war duty at home and abroad. Adding to the joy of the occasion is a last-minute announcement from Washington that 60,000 additional Army enlisted men will be released today by a new lowering of required minimum discharge point score.

Barriade Windows.
In New York, barricades were being placed in front of Times Square's plate glass windows as a precaution against the revels of an expected million midnight visitors.

At 11:45 all vehicular traffic will be rerouted from the White War area and 2,183 extra policemen will be ready to handle the exuberant crowds.

Staid, quiet Philadelphia was ready to let its hair down in celebration of its first peace-time New Year's Eve since 1940.

Night clubs and hotels have been sold out for more than a week. Washington was prepared to stage its biggest celebration with hotels and all night spots sold out. Police admitted they were prepared for any eventuality, with extra details assigned to spots of what they called "probable confusion."

With an estimated 30,000 government workers out of the city on leave, travel was heavier Sunday than usual, but light compared to the pre-Christmas rush.

Night Clubs Sold Out.
In Chicago, there were virtually no reservations left at night clubs and capacity crowds were assured at all theaters.

Extra squads of policemen will be assigned to Chicago's Loop, and other entertainment centers. Police advised New Year's Eve merry-makers to move with care as a "chaw" was followed by belatedly dropping temperatures which left streets and sidewalks covered with ice.

San Francisco's swollen wartime population—augmented by thousands of Pacific Army and Navy troops—was expected to celebrate.

White New Year's For This District

Safety officials warn that as a driving tonight may find road in a slick and dangerous condition.

Arthur Mometer

Here's a tip for tonight if you celebrate and you figure on staying alive, have fun my friend but remember this, if you're going to drink, don't drive. It isn't new, that line of advice but timely tonight I think, if you're visiting friends who are whooping it up, if you're going to drive, don't drink. For alcohol and some gasoline is a mixture that raises hub and you wouldn't care to be one who gives the corner fellow a job. So keep them apart, as you party tonight and you're making the wall known hey-heh, if you drive don't drink, if you drink, don't drive, it's 34 today.

War Labor Board Out Of Existence With End Of Day

W.L.B. Bows Out Amidst Reconversion Strike Crisis Of Real Magnitude

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—The War Labor Board bows out of existence today amidst a reconversion strike crisis as formidable as any it dealt with in four wartime years as the government's arbiter of labor disputes.

President Truman was expected to announce the resignation of WLB Chairman Lloyd K. Garrison and his colleagues and issued an executive order creating a new national wage labor board to carry on the nation's stabilization program.

The termination of the WLB marks the end of a unique chapter in the country's industrial relations during which some 400,000 employers voluntarily came before the agency to ask permission to pay their employees more money.

In addition, the WLB settled—with but few cases of non-compliance—thousands of disputes between labor and management. This function of compulsory arbitration by the government ceases with the board's liquidation.

As a substitute, the administration has called for a statutory system of fact-finding boards to handle industrial conflicts. President Truman is expected to renew his appeal for such legislation in a radio address Thursday.

The first big test of fact-finding in the six weeks old strike of General Motors workers met with GM's refusal to participate in the proceedings. The corporation declined to discuss its ability to pay the 30 per cent wage increase demanded by the CIO-UAW.

No liquor was to be sold in bars or night clubs after the regular midnight deadline. Night clubs will be allowed to stay open until 3 a. m., but the cup that cheers must be "frozen" at 12.

In a flamboyant appendix to the document, Goebbels explained why he refused Hitler's order to leave Berlin and carry on as a leader of the fallen Nazi government.

Said Goebbels, who later committed suicide with his wife and children:

"I would appear for the rest of my life a dishonorable traitor and common scoundrel. In the nightmare of treason which surrounds the Fuehrer in these critical days there must be some people to stay with him unconditionally until death."

In a bitter denunciation of his two most trusted lieutenants, Hitler declared:

"Before my death, I expel Goering and appoint Dönitz in his place. I also expel Himmler."

The bus employees were granted a wage increase which equalized their rate of pay throughout the system. Final settlement of the strike was announced after the union and U. S. Conciliation Service ironed out conflicting points of a fact-finding order set up by the Department of Labor.

NEW YEAR'S DAY PARADE PLANNED IN PHILADELPHIA

parade will be a great many returned war veterans, taking part for the first time since 1940.

The spectacle, termed as "unique as the spice of scapple and the tang of peppercorn," will feature string bands, fancy costumes, spectacular costumes, towering headpieces, and the ever-present, ever-tummy comes.

Keenote of this first peace-time Mummer's festival will be joy and gaiety. Many of the clubs have spent far more for their costumes and floats than they can hope to win in prizes, but then the prizes are a minor matter when the Mummers cavort up Philadelphia's Broad street.

PHONE EXPANSION PROGRAM MAY BE CURTAILED
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31.—(INS)—A threatened strike of 19 thousand members of the Western Electric Employees Association today appeared likely to bring curtailment of the Bell Telephone Company's $150 million post-war expansion program in Pennsylvania.

A strike call has been issued for Thursday morning.

Union officials reported that work stoppage would also delay the installation of 118 thousand new telephones in Philadelphia homes and tie up long-distance telephone service if telephone workers and operators stage a "sympathy" walk-out.

Card Of Thanks
We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives for kindness and sympathy extended us during our recent bereavement. Also for beautiful flowers and cars donated.

and atomic bomb secrets. He avowed that no secrets had been disclosed at the Moscow meeting.

He said:

"At no time did we discuss any technical or scientific matters, nor were we asked by the Soviet government about the new weapon. I was happy to find that the Soviet government feels as we do that this particular weapon is of such a revolutionary nature that we should explore through a United Nations commission methods of international control."

"Neither we nor any other nation would be expected to share our armament secrets until it is certain that effective safeguards had been developed to insure our mutual protection."

Byrnes frankly admitted that Iran was the one point on which the foreign ministers himself, Soviet Foreign Commissar V. Molotov and Britain's Bevin—had been unable to agree.

"Unfortunately we could not agree."

"I do not wish to minimize the seriousness of the problem. But I am not discouraged. I hope that the exchange of views may lead to further consideration of the grave issues involved and out of such consideration a solution may be found."

Other Points
Other points of Byrnes talk:

1. Byrnes called the Moscow talk with President Truman's approval. The risk existed that they would fail, as had the London meeting of the five-power foreign ministers. But, he said, "I felt this risk had to be taken."

2. The peace conference which was provided for at Moscow is to be called not later than May 1. The place was not mentioned.

3. The impasse on Romania and Bulgaria has been broken. If Russia does not live up to the terms of the agreement, the United States and Britain are still free to withhold recognition of the current regime.

The agreements do not go as far as Byrnes would like but he hopes that they will result in "substantial improvement in the democratic character of these governments."

4. Of the Far East: "We were determined to assure that the outstanding and efficient administration set up and executed by General MacArthur should not be obstructed."

5. Korea: The Joint Soviet-American commission, working with the Korean provisional government, may find it possible to dispense with a trusteeship. It is B. C.

6. China: The mission he has undertaken.

7. It is only for those who do not have Ration Book Four. Application forms will be available at army separation centers and at OPA local boards.

8. Aristophanes Greek writer is the author of one of the old Greek comedies whose plays survive in their entirety. He wrote from 427-384 B. C.

Why Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance?
The difference between life insurance companies is of vital importance when planning or buying the kind of independence that only life insurance brings. Do these two things: 1. See your Northwestern Mutual agent and let him tell you what that difference means to you; and 2. Talk with any of our policyholders, for they can tell you why no company excels Northwestern Mutual in that respect of all business relationships—old customers coming back for more.

Japan's Future

Having completed the foundation upon which a new order is to be established in Japan, General MacArthur declares it is now up to the Japanese people to determine their own future. Forces which for generations have emphasized military instead of economic progress have been for the most part relegated to oblivion.

Many war criminals are in prison. For the first time in the nation's history the people have an opportunity to attain personal freedom, and all the advantages which come with removal of oppression.

General MacArthur points out that the greatest need at the moment is leadership. None is in evidence now. So thoroughly were the people dominated by the ruling class, so thoroughly were they imbued with the false doctrine of divine leadership, it will require years of education and guidance to qualify them for self-government. It is the hope of General MacArthur a new leadership will develop to meet the changing conditions.

The most hopeful sign is a nation-wide indication the Japanese people are eager to be out from under the military yoke. Having lived by the sword for generations, only to end up as a crushed and defeated nation, a new and better order should be universally welcomed. Under the capable guidance of General MacArthur and his staff they should be able to attain their rightful place in a world dedicated to peace.

Advent Of The New Year

The thought suddenly strikes the lucky beholder of the advent of another new year that the Twentieth Century is almost half gone. Whether that is good or bad each individual must decide for himself.

This new year at least does not make its entrance in a time of world war. Little wars are being fought here and there, and big aggressions are being consummated by Russia while the world stands by in amazement, but all this is in the form of anti-climax after the noise of the atomic bomb exploding over Japan.

How much progress will be made in 1946 toward reconstruction, maintenance and stability on the American front would be hard to predict. The postwar prosperity that was to transform this nation into a land of milk and honey has been thwarted by labor trouble. Whether it will ever materialize many persons are in doubt.

But the boys, or many of them, are coming home from the wars, and even a country with industries at a standstill looks good to a soldier who has seen nothing but death and destruction for years. Even though not an automobile is manufactured from now on, he will take this to any other spot in the world.

Staying In Uniform

Reenlistments in both Army and Navy are continuing at a surprising rate. Apparently it will be an easy matter to maintain a regular army of 300,000 and a navy of 500,000, estimated strength for peacetime. In many districts enlistments have doubled in the last thirty days. Of 4,424 men returning to New York on one ship 1,150 declared they were ready to take another hitch.

One day recently 4,000 men reenlisted on God-forsaken Okinawa. Many are attracted by the liberal reenlistment program, with its bonus for every year of active service, and retirement at half-pay after twenty years.

Until recently it appeared to be the general desire of service men to get out of uniform. All had had enough of war and military service. Observers say the changed attitude is rooted in security. Many men prefer to retain the guarantee of food and housing which goes with enlistment. Word of conditions at home has reached the veterans.

They have learned of the housing shortage, of strikes delaying reconstruction. They fear jobs will be none too plentiful a year for which there seems to be little foundation.

Cost Is Too High

Establishment of a priorities system on the purchase of new homes next year was designed to favor veterans, but several aspects of the plan indicate that it will not accomplish that result.

John D. Small, federal civilian production administrator, has predicted 400,000 dwellings will be constructed in 1946 under the program and said he believes a "substantial number" of them will sell for less than $10,000 or rent for under $80 a month. The builders would be required to offer the homes costing no more than $10,000 for sale exclusively to veterans during the construction and for a 30-day period thereafter.

There are two very definite and well-based criticisms which veterans can level at the program. First, that it is insufficient and that the number of homes contemplated for erection cannot begin to meet the demand, and second, veterans will not be able to buy the homes at prices approaching the $10,000 figure or rent them at $80 a month.

A survey made at Army separation centers recently disclosed that the majority of men being discharged who planned to purchase homes wanted them at $5,000 to $6,000, which is the most they could afford in view of the high cost of labor. It is altogether unlikely that many of the proposed homes will be in the lower price range.

Bravely we face a new year of hope and promise in which the atom has been instructed to take on only light, constructive tasks.

We may have our little troubles in 1946 but at least we now have reasonable expectation that they will not end in a small cloud of radioactive dust.

The latest prospectus on the destructive force of the atom was that if one bomb was dropped two miles from Wall Street, the stock exchange would come down in Philadelphia with the tape reading "The market opened lively today."

Mr. Byrnes told that information down the middle, carried it to Moscow and came back with an agreement written in three part harmony.

The first part read "We have the bomb and we are willing to ban it." The second part read "We know how to make the bomb and we are willing to ban it." The third part read "I know when to say yes," signed, Molotov.

We don't know what President Truman is going to say to the nation and Congress in his next two speeches but it is certain now that they will contain no blockbusters.

He has to make two speeches, one to get General Motors to go back to work and one to get Congress to go back to work.

We will listen with bated breath but there will be no trace of uranium 235 on it.

WASHINGTON CALLING

All Not 'Sweetness' In President's Group

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—A great deal has been written about the "Missouri Gang" in the White House and the tight control that President Truman's former associates exercise within the administration.

The evidence indicates, however, that all is not sweetness and light within the group immediately around the President. On the political side there is great unhappiness over certain recent moves within the White House.

Chairman Robert Hannegan of the Democratic National committee would like to see a few changes made, and quickly. Too often, Hannegan has complained, the President ignores the political significance of his acts. The blame for much of this Hannegan puts on his fellow St. Louisan, John W. Snyder, director of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconstruction.

Criticism against Snyder has been mounting in recent weeks. Snyder leans heavily on his deputy administrator, Hans Klagsbrunn, whom he brought with him to the White House from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Klagsbrunn, whose name in German means complaining brook, is not the soul of tact. In fact, he has been at odds with most of Snyder's staff at one time or another. Yet Snyder relies on his faithful lieutenant and accepts his judgment on most matters.

Klagsbrunn is credited with bringing about the appointment of Richard M. Bissell as economic adviser to Snyder. Bissell succeeds Richard Nathan, although without the title of deputy administrator.

He is rated as a conservative economist and a Republican and his appointment is an important move within the White House.

Hannegan and the members of Hannegan's highly organized political outfit. They say that Truman must have the votes of liberals and labor to win. To get that vote he must make every effort to carry out his social and economic program.

Obstacles are Great. It follows, therefore, that he should have around him men who agree with his point of view. The obstacles are great enough in any event, the argument runs, without taking into the inner circle those who may not be convinced proponents of the administration program.

The President has thus far shown a stubborn loyalty to his old friend Snyder. He resents any suggestion that Snyder should step out of the office and controversial office of War Reconstruction and go back to the First National Bank in St. Louis or to the post of federal bank administrator which is still vacant.

In an effort to get the White House on a more smooth running basis the President is trying to persuade Chairman Paul Porter of the Federal Communications commission to give up that job and become one of the President's administrative assistants. Porter, director of information for the Democratic National committee during the last campaign, is an effective operator with the light touch.

He has great shrewdness in judging political consequences and appreciates human reactions. His friendships on Capitol Hill are many and varied.

Fourth Assignment. But he does not want to leave his present job which he has held for just a year. Chairmanship of the FCC with so much power over radio and communications is a tough assignment as President Roosevelt well knew when he appointed Porter.

It would be easier, however, to find a new FCC chairman than it would to find another trouble-shooter for the White House. Snyder's capillary, the President said, and Hannegan would like to rely on Porter to prevent the kind of political slip that occurred the other day.

When the President named former Senator John G. Townsend, Jr., of Delaware, a Republican to be a delegate to the United Nations organization, the White House failed to notify Senator James M. Tamm, Democratic Senator from Delaware. Tamm learned of the President's appointment from the press. This seems minor and the UNO post is presumably non-political, yet it is the kind of thing which engenders bad feeling.

Truman faces a new year in which his relations with Congress are likely to worsen and this in the face of congressional elections next November. That is one of the main reasons why Hannegan is determined to strengthen the White House staff.

Farewell and 'Hail' and so it goes. The old year comes to a close. The new, with its tomorrow all, Already at the entrance hall.

Farewell unto the dying year, And scarcely time to shed a tear Before the new is ushered in And all the welcoming cheers begin.

Farewell! In just a few hours more The old year leaves the year before. The 'Hail'! Forget what's come and gone!

PRIVATE INFORMATION

Recently we attended a banquet where the after-dinner speaker included in a number of army stories.

One speaker who was evidently tired of the references made by those who preceded him, to the rank he had held in the army, told the following story which closed the contest for that night at last.

In a grill room of a large hotel, a number of veterans got into a dispute over a certain battle. The veterans—all men of high rank—argued very intemperately. But a quiet man spoke up and said:

"Gentlemen, I happened to be at Bataan and I think I can settle the point at issue."

The hotel manager was much impressed, and when he got through asked: "My dear sir, what may have been your rank in the army?"

"I was a private, sir, a back private," was the calm reply.

Shortly thereafter, it was time for the back private to ask for his bill for the evening but the manager said: "Not a penny, sir! Not a penny! You owe me nothing."

"How is that?" I spent the whole evening here. . . I've ordered drinks and food. Of course, I have a bill."

"Really, sir, I couldn't dream of charging you, sir," continued the manager in sincere admiration. "You see, sir, you are the first private I've ever met."

HALTER AROUND THEIR NECKS

In presenting the case against the German war criminals on the second count of their indictment that accusing them of breaking the world's peace, Britain's Attorney General has bluntly labeled them "murderers, thieves, liars, who were no more than a Hitler, but who helped him make possible his acts of aggression in violation of international law."

Germany's pre-war publicity has been so thoroughly exposed that it is often given less attention than it deserves. Yet it was one of Hitler's principal weapons. It was by his double-dealing diplomacy that he lulled other nations into false security, played one against another, bought time for his rearmings and then attacked on his own terms.

Treaties as Sir Matthew Shawcross points out, were entered into with complete cynicism as a means of deceiving other States as to Germany's warlike intentions. International conferences were made occasions for obtaining by blarney demands which were eventually to be enlarged by war.

Should Germany's actions under Hitler be taken as a precedent of behavior in the conduct of international relations, as the prosecutor truly states, then the end of civilized society is in sight.

The British Empire is determined, Sir Matthew says to prove that the making of an aggressive war is a criminal venture and that persons who in violation of international law plunge their own and other countries into aggressive war "do so with a halter around their necks."

If nothing more than that is produced by the Nuremberg trial, it will have amply justified itself.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A very Happy New Year to you. And here is an infallible formula for making it a happy new year: Forget that tomorrow is January 1.

Don't make any resolutions which you are bound to break, anyway. Don't look upon every new year as a new chapter in your life, but simply as another step toward your life's goal—happiness, security, peace.

Thousands of people start the new year with a hangover.

A hangover is not necessarily caused by an excess of alcohol or losing a night's sleep on New Year's eve.

A hangover can be caused just as easily and more painfully—by prejudices, intolerance, fear, ignorance and hatred.

So if you really want your New Year to be happy, put on a clean shirt or blouse and clean the cobwebs out of your mind.

I suppose I should—as is expected from a writer—give you some high-sounding, spiritual message, and make you believe that New Year's Day is a day set apart from all the other days in the year.

But to me that would be plain bunk and I don't like bunk.

New Year's Day is just like every other day in the year, just as Sunday should be like every other day in the week.

A lot of people think that as long as they go to church on Sunday they can be the most ornery cusses the other six days and yet be considered model citizens.

That's bunk and you know it. And a lot of people think that they can close last year's book and wipe out all the red entries by just promising themselves to be better men and women in the coming year.

That is also bunk and you also know it.

Life is not a book of short stories each separated from the whole. Life is a continued story of connected episodes, all leading to the final climax.

Each year you have lived has made its imprint upon your character, and each past year has its influence upon your future.

You can't wipe out yesterday by promising yourself a better tomorrow.

It is too late to do anything about last year.

But remember that the coming year will be last year on January 1, 1947.

So let me wish you a very Happy 1946 by making the best of 1945.

A CAT-ASTROPHE

The richest cat on the world is dead, and his exit is making some legal problems. Buster, a Boston tomy, was valued a fortune of Forty Thousand Dollars by his late master, an attorney, with a request to the executor, however, of Five Thousand Dollars for his care and feeding. Relative of the lawyer was cut out without remorse because of their alleged "cruelty" to the feline help.

Now after one year of sympathetic living, Buster suddenly gives up all claim of his life, and the problem is what to do with the remainder of the Forty Thousand Dollars. In all probability Buster has heirs, plenty of them, but to chase them down and get most of their identity is a task beyond even the wisdom of the FBI.

As a true lover of cats or other pet species it would seem that Buster's banishment would have been advised if he had made better choices. In fact, Buster and his kind should be sent to the Paris Peace Conference to discuss which has been making a magnificent find for more than two generations in behalf of the dumb creatures that cannot speak for themselves.

Pearl Harbor Probe Approaches Climax
Kimmel And Short To Go On Stand Soon
Republic Aviation After New Plane Mark

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—The Pearl Harbor investigating committee is sailing into its grand climax, which is dead ahead.

The odds are 80 to 20 that the first witnesses to appear before the congressional group when it resumes its hearings January 31 will be the two most publicized actors in the Pearl Harbor tragedy—Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lt. Col. Walter C. Short.

Kimmel, naval commander at Oahu when the Japanese struck Dec. 7, 1941, and Short, his opposite number in the Army, are anxious to tell their stories. Both have sought public hearings and expressed willingness to face courts martial.

The committee, informed quarters says is prepared to get them on the stand. They will probably testify for at least a week apiece.

The extension of the committee's life from January 3 to February 15 may be inadequate to finish off the most baffling of post-war investigations on Capitol Hill.

Report Meeting To Be Held In London To Set Up U.N.O.
Military Force

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—An authoritative British source said today that agreement was reached at San Francisco last spring to convene the first session of the Big Five military staffs in London to set up an international police force.

"In Washington, the War department announced that Lieut. Gen. Matthew Ridgway, deputy supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, had been named to represent Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the U.N.O. military staff. General Ridgway was relieved of his duties in the Mediterranean theater so he could concentrate on his new duties.

He also will serve as military adviser to the U.S. delegation to the United Nations Organization and was assigned to the office of joint chiefs of staff.

While Britain was selected as the host power, it was pointed out the military staff meeting would be held under the aegis of the United Nations Organization. The general assembly of U.N.O. is scheduled to meet in London, January 10.

The informant, commenting on reports the military staffs are scheduled to meet soon, revealed the military chiefs will assist and advise the U.N.O. security council under terms of the charter.

He declared the council would not be completed until after the first general assembly meeting.

Mrs. J. A. MacDonald Dies In Youngstown

Mrs. James A. MacDonald, aged 77, of 54 East Dewey avenue, Youngstown, O., died at 9:20 a. m., Saturday, at the residence after a five-year illness.

Mrs. MacDonald, the wife of Dr. MacDonald, pastor of South U. P. church, was active in church work until her illness. She taught the Bible class, was prominent in missionary work, and in young people's projects.

She was president of Women's General Missionary convention in Fort Morgan, Colo., in 1921, and was a life director of the Women's General Missionary society.

Born September 10, 1868, in Scott township, Harlansburg, Pa., Mrs. MacDonald was a daughter of Robert B. and Margaret Brown Peebles. She was a graduate of Westminster college and an instructor in history, Latin and mathematics there.

Believe Four Dead In London Wreck

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—At least four persons were believed killed and many injured in the collision of two suburban London trains today as the heaviest fog in 20 years blanketed 13,000 square miles of frozen English countryside.

Trains were hours behind schedule and automobiles unable to negotiate the icy roads along which pedestrians picked their way with the aid of flares. The affected area included London and the home counties.

The fog obscured streets and halted work in the London dock area. Office workers were stranded in many instances.

JAP BALLOON SCARE FADES
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 31.—A Jap balloon scare was postponed by army authorities in Pittsburgh yesterday when it was determined that a balloon grounded four miles south of Oil City, belonged to the air forces.

Major Richard P. Brown, service command intelligence officer stationed here, said the balloon, pinned in a tree in the Two Mile Run district, apparently had been used by a Pittsburgh radar station not out of operation.

The balloon had been in the tree for at least one month, persons interviewed told Major Brown.

Auto Tires Off Ration List At Midnight

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 31.—Automobile tires will go off the ration list at midnight tonight, the Pittsburgh Office of Price Administration has reminded local motorists. Spokesmen explained tires were freed from restrictions after manufacturers reported production of 11 million in the last quarter of 1945 and predicted their output will be 15 million in 1946.

The announcement warned that many motorists may be reminded that ration stamps must be removed from tires before they can be replaced.

Dealers are being advised not to sell complete sets to those who can get along a while with one or two replacement tires.

Witness Links Jap Generals With Executions

MANILA, Dec. 31. — (CNS) — A beautiful young Filipino girl gave testimony today linking a Japanese general with an order for execution of three American airmen.

The testimony was given at the war crimes trial of Lt. Gen. Nikitaro Tjima who with twelve lower-ranking Japanese soldiers is charged with ordering the Americans on Batjan Island, north of Luzon.

The witness said that a Japanese Lieutenant— one of the defendants— told her that General Tjima had banished a Japanese colonel to Formosa because the colonel refused to execute the three Americans. This testimony was considered particularly damaging since for the first time it pinned the execution order on the general.

Brief sessions of two other war crimes trials were also held today.

War Warning

Stark emphasized that his message to Pacific Fleet Commander Husband E. Kimmel on Nov. 27, 1941, opened deliberately with the words, "this dispatch is to be considered a war warning" in order to "accentuate the extreme gravity of the situation."

His statement and the voluminous file of his correspondence with Kimmel and Admiral Thomas C. Hart, Asiatic commander, now a U. S. senator, also disclosed that:

1. Stark reported to Kimmel on Nov. 25, 1941, that he had just conferred with the late President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull and that "neither would be surprised over a Japanese surprise attack."
2. Mr. Roosevelt in May, 1941, ordered Stark to be ready within 30 days to send an expedition of 25,000 men to "take the Azores." Preparations were made but the expedition was never carried out.
3. Stark renounced many state department suggestions on fleet assignments as "nothing less than childish"; he obtained the president's approval on sending a fleet unit north from Hawaii in order to "give the state department a shock which might make them head back."
4. President Roosevelt for months opposed giving the navy draftees to boost its personnel, as urged by Stark. Stark said he wrote Kimmel on Nov. 25, 1941, of Mr. Roosevelt's okay with this explanation: "The president in giving final approval said he just hated to do it; our sentiment is fast getting out of my system; if there is any left in it on this war."
5. Stark warned Kimmel on Jan. 13, 1941, just after his elevation to the Hawaiian command, that "we may wake up any day with some mines deposited on our front door step or with some of our ships bombed, or whatnot, and find ourselves in another undeclared war..."
6. In May, 1941, Stark warned all naval commanders involved that while raids might be more remote in the eastern Pacific, they should not be "caught napping in that area."
7. As early as February, 1940, Stark complained that the navy needed "tension plans" as well as war plans to integrate state and treasury department policy with that of the army and navy.

CITY PREPARES TO GREET NEW YEAR

watch 1946 ride in from a booth seat in local beverage dispensaries and by the time 1946 is in a lot of the celebrants will be in also, all in and out.

A Heavy Job
Little 1946 enters a job that will try his brawn and brain and courage. Postwar international politics, relief to foreign countries, civil war in China, an uprising in Java, riots in Palestine, a caldron of unrest in Spain and South America, strikes in the United States and the difficulty of finding an apartment that can be rented to a man with a wife and a youngster or two.

The job was more than 1945 could handle successfully. He saw the Nazis and the Japs snatched down, but the attending problems have old boy's shoulders looking like the sides of a soap bowl and months ago he began wearing a cane. As he hobbles out tonight to pass the bundles of worries to his successor he will probably leave a huge sign of relief as he fades off into the shadows of passing years.

In Merry Mood
For a little while tonight the United States will be in a merry mood. Metropolitan hotels and cafes are charging tremendous prices for the privilege of being wedged in at a table and eating food that isn't too good just to watch the new year come in.

For a after hours the past year's headaches will be replaced by another type of headache, and the happiness of war torn Europe will be substituted by headaches that have the owner thinking a boiler shop has been set up inside his skull.

Here in New Castle the celebration will be comparatively quiet, it is thought. Theaters will have midnight shows, and because it is a week night the parties will probably lay right to the limit of the law, 2 in the morning.

For 1946 the year holds one of the biggest challenges any of his predecessors have ever faced. For the rest of us the year holds a challenge to do better work, be better citizens and make better use of our time.

But anyway, to you and you and you, A Happy New Year.

Joyful Wacs Will Receive Nylon Hose; Waves Out Of Luck

Army Women Soldiers To Receive Three Pairs Every Three Months

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—Wacs were joyfully looking forward today to induction of nylon stockings into the army on Feb. 1.

Members of the Women's Army Corps revealed in a cross-section poll that World War II's rayon stockings are doomed to "dishonorable" discharge from the service.

Army authorization of three pairs of nylons every three months to each Wac was disclosed in the service's news letter for January. At present five pairs of rayons are issued quarterly, causing this slight hitch.

New Supply

A new supply of rayon hose is due on Jan. 1, just a month before the glamorous nylons are expected to become available. Enlisted Wacs were warned that if they insist on an issue next month they'll get no nylons when they arrive.

Wacs stationed in the Pentagon Building shrugged aside the risk of wearing runs in their untrustworthy rayons or going barelegged during January. They agreed 100 per cent that in the long run it would be best to wait for the nylons.

Forgets How They Feel
Set Betty Birdlimer, of Salem, Ohio, recalled that the last time she wore nylons was four years ago. Col. Jane Reid, of Cleveland, Ohio, also remarked that she "forgot how they feel." She added that her last pair lasted two years.

PFC Jane Murray, of Pittsburgh, Pa., exclaimed that she "couldn't wait" to slip her legs into the sheer and shimmering hosiery. That went, too, for Sgts. Marion Logis, of Huntington, Pa., and Marjorie Alhead, of Pinegrove, W. Va.

No nylons have been authorized for the Wacs.

HINDU LEADER PREDICTS NEW WORLD WAR

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—A Hindu leader today predicted a third world war developing from a continuing revolt by millions of Asiatics which even the atom bomb will not suppress.

The former All-India Congress president recently released from British custody told a group of home rule advocates that "certain countries of Asia" would revolt against domination by any empire.

Recent developments indicated that America is underwriting the British empire, possibly with suitable minor changes. It becomes increasingly clear that Britain is fighting a losing battle in southeast Asia and Indonesia.

"The sources of her old imperial strength are drying up," he said. "The sources of her old imperial strength are drying up."

Elect Officers For Year At Annual 'Muster' When Members Hold Turkey Dinner

Company B, 16th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry veterans, held their annual "muster" and party last Friday evening in a local dining room, commemorating the 47th anniversary of their muster out of service.

During the meeting, notes and telegrams from members living at a distance were read giving their regrets of not being able to attend.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Albert B. Haid; vice president, William Dixon; secretary, C. Ed. Brown; treasurer, Homer Drake; chaplain, Ed. Eiler; arrangement committee, John Scott and William Dixon.

Following the election, the members enjoyed a sumptuous turkey dinner.

The next "muster" will be held on December 28, 1946.

OPA To Abandon Price Control On Numerous Items

Control To Be Lifted On Strange
And Diversified Items New Years Eve

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31.—(INS)—OPA will celebrate this New Year's Eve with considerable abandon involving lots of ice, fireworks, racing motorcycles, pneumatic life rafts and—of all things—safety valves.

On New Year's Eve OPA will abandon its price controls on more than 40 items of strange and startling diversity.

Manholes and manhole covers, fire hydrants, coal chutes and perfection oil gates will be freed from governmental price restrictions when the horn blows at midnight and 1945 slides off the calendar.

Walk gates, caps, corners, cornices and molds used for forming large blocks of ice usually too large for a highball glass will be independent of OPA's price control at the same time.

Domestically-grown bamboo poles, horseshow buggies, horseshoe sulkies, wooden coopers dowels and all beeswax comb foundations also will be emancipated from the pricing agency on the gay day.

Manufacturers of fireworks, racing motorcycles, advertising streamers made from coated fabrics and pneumatic life rafts will not have to count their cost by the dawn of New Year's Day.

All steel safety and relief valves as well as meter boxes (outside) can be priced at will by manufacturers on or after New Year's Eve, through the courtesy of the office of price administration.

OPA's action is taken as the result of too much New Year's Eve spirit, the whole exemption order is wrapped up in a title of great length and dignity.

The operation is listed in OPA files as "amendment number seven to supplementary order 129—exemption and suspension from control of machines, parts, industrial materials and services."

Angry With Husband
But Will Not Hang
Him To Holiday Tree

CHICAGO, Dec. 31.—(INS)—Mrs. Shirley Michaels was angry with her husband today, but not peeved enough to hang him on the Christmas tree.

Mrs. Michaels told Judge Francis J. Borrelli that she became angry with her husband the other day when he came home from his work as a liquor distributor with lipstick on his collar.

That was bad, Mrs. Michaels said, but it was just too much when Mrs. Michaels Foster called on the telephone and asked if I had a Christmas tree," Mrs. Michaels added.

"I said that we had a Christmas tree, and she said: 'O.K., hang your husband on it because I'm through with him.'"

Mrs. Michaels charged Mrs. Foster with disorderly conduct. Judge Borrelli placed both women under $500 peace bonds.

Mrs. Michaels said she wouldn't hang her husband on the Christmas tree for the children's sake.

Pfc. T. W. Sproull
Gets Bronze Star
For Europe Action

Now With First Military Government Headquarters In Stuttgart, Germany

Pfc. Theodore W. Sproull, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sproull of 118 Sheridan avenue, now serving with the First Military Government in Stuttgart, Germany, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for achievement in action last February 15 at Reversville, France.

Rout's Enemy Nest
The citation given Pfc. Sproull with the medal states that he and two other men were on a patrol to determine the location of an enemy outpost, and were fired upon by an enemy machine gun position. Cautioning his men to hold their fire so as not to give away their own positions, Sproull by-passed the enemy gun and after obtaining the desired information began his return to his own lines. Coming upon the German machine gun he opened fire with his automatic rifle and threw several hand grenades. Charging the position he found he had killed one of the enemy and caused the others to flee. His skill, daring and courageous action enabled his patrol to achieve its mission and return unharmed.

Besides the Bronze Star, Pfc. Sproull holds the European theater ribbon with two battle stars, the combat infantryman's badge and a Presidential citation. He is a graduate of Penn State College, class of 1943.

Sir Christopher Wren, English architect, was a graduate of Oxford and professor of astronomy in 1669. He was one of the founders of the Royal Society and president in 1681.

Former Publicist

In Calcutta, India

Capt. John M. Ball III Heads
Semi-Monthly Publication
In India

The News received a package today containing several editions of the magazine-newspaper, "APO, U. S. A.", which is unique in purpose and makeup and is edited and published by Captain John M. Ball, III, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. Ball of this city. Capt. Ball was formerly associated with publicity work in New Castle.

Before his assignment to army air forces headquarters in Calcutta, Capt. Ball was an original member and staff officer of the 2nd Air Commando Group, an organization credited with knocking the Jap air force out of action during the "forgotten campaigns" in Burma. He entered the service as a private in 1941 and has been overseas for fifteen months.

Popular Magazine
The magazine is published by the Information-Education Division of the AAF headquarters in the India-Burma theater, and is receiving much attention from military and civil agencies as one of the best army publications to come out of the war.

The publication is solely devoted to analyzing the post-war picture for the returning serviceman and woman, and contains the latest available state-wide news on demobilization, GI legislation, developments in jobs and training, education, and current trends in business and the employment future. It presents straight factual information to the anxious veteran on his future opportunities and what he can expect when he returns home.

Printed By Natives
Printed by an Indian printer, a concern in Calcutta, the paper carries a three-color cover each edition. Indian compositors who neither read, write or speak English, hand set this eight page sheet, character for character, from a completely pasted-up dummy. It is always necessary to take at least three readings of galley and four to five readings of page proofs before going to press.

Fifty thousand impressions, two pages at a time, on a slightly antiquated hand-fed, flat bed press is required for the 10,000 copy run. The pages are then folded by hand and cut. With religious holidays and labor strikes permitting, the paper is "usually" delivered on the date of publication.

The thieves entered the home of Max Zawitz, of Pittsburgh, and war

Expect State Fire Losses To Continue Heavy

Losses Were $22,500,000 In 1945;
Upswing May Continue
In 1946

HARRISBURG, Dec. 31.—(INS)—State Fire Marshal William F. Traeger said today that Pennsylvania's fire losses, estimated in 1945 at $22,500,000, may continue on the upward trend next year. The trend would be discernible within four months, he added.

"At the present time the fire losses look to be about 10 to 12 per cent higher than the $20,000,000 of last year," Traeger said. "We anticipate from the present trend a frequency of fires."

"Since last July we've had a steady, definite increase in the number of fires and there doesn't seem to be any break in sight," he added. "The first three months of the year—winter months don't always give us a picture of what is in sight."

About May we should be able to definitely determine the trend, but using the background of World War I, I think the fires may continue to increase," he said.

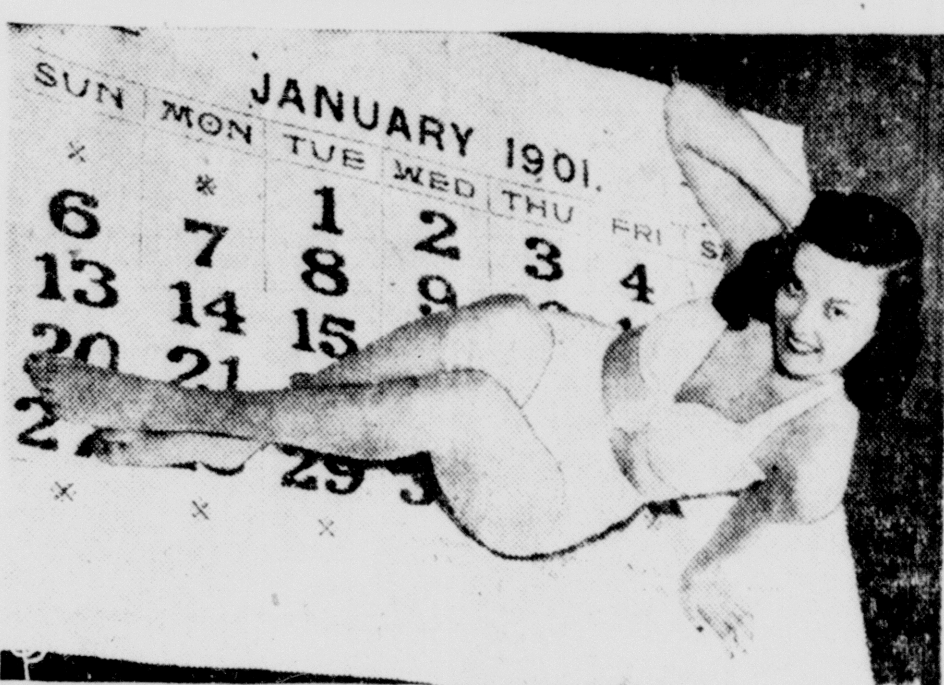

Run in Cycles
Traeger said he believed that the number of fires would increase was based on a theory that fires run in cycles.

Pennsylvania's greatest fire losses, Traeger pointed out, occurred during the depression year of 1931, when an estimated $32,000,000 worth of property was destroyed.

The 1944 national fire loss has been estimated at approximately $450,000,000 and Traeger predicted that it would not be "too long" before the annual losses would hit the half-billion dollar mark.

According to the National Fire Protection association, fires have destroyed more property in the United States during the past two years than was ruined in England during the first two years of the German "blitz".

TIME MARCHES BACK AND ON

Seated on a huge 1901 calendar, pretty Eleanor Cahill calls to your attention an interesting point concerning the new year. The 1946 calendar is the same as the one used in 1901. It will also be good for the coming years of 1957, 1963, 1974, 1985 and 1991.

Lack Of Funds Halts Strike Votes

N.L.R.B. Orders All Voting Canceled Result Of Funds Not Being Provided

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 31.—Cancellation of strike balloting by the National Labor Relations Board because of lack of funds hit more than a dozen district polls involving thousands of workers scheduled by the regional office.

NLRB at Washington ordered all voting canceled after President Truman signed a deficiency appropriation bill Friday which failed to provide funds for this purpose.

Largest of the polls canceled were according to Frank M. Kleier, NLRB regional director, embraced approximately 7600 production workers at the Westinghouse Air Brake Co., Wilmerding, and its subsidiary Union Switch & Signal Co., Swissvale.

The CIO United Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers, Local 610, which had petitioned for a strike ballot, will conduct its own poll in accordance with the union's rules, according to Business Agent Albert Smith.

Other polls canceled involved the Pennsylvania Transformer Co., North Side; Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., North Side; Pennsylvania Truck Lines Inc., and several New Castle transfer firms, including Keystone-Lawrence Transfer & Storage Co.

Pledge To Flag Made Official

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America And to the Republic For which it stands One nation indivisible With liberty and justice For all.

Although these words have been spoken with patriotic solemnity for years, they have never been official. Now they have been made the official pledge to the flag by Act of Congress. And credit goes to the Allegheny County American Legion which sponsored the move a year ago.

Cpl. John H. Shorckel, chairman of the Allegheny County American Legion's Americanism committee, yesterday said Rep. Herman P. Eberharter (D-Pittsburgh) has informed him that President Truman has signed the measure.—Pittsburgh Press.

The orange and lemon groves of Sicily and southern Italy have suffered little war damage, but practically all need irrigation because of the shortage of electric power—also miles and miles—used to operate the pumping plants.

Philadelphia To Continue Battle
Civic Leaders Will Keep Up Effort To Be Named U.N.O. Permanent Site
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31.—(INS)—Civic leaders continued their fight today to bring the United Nations Organization home to Philadelphia, which apparently ruled out the Quaker City.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, Temple University president and leader of a delegation which flew to London to present Philadelphia's bid, word Dr. R. E. McEachen, European ambassador to London and chairman of the U.N.O. site committee.

"As the United States was selected largely to enlist and retain enthusiastic support of its citizens, we cannot understand why Philadelphia, which is their overwhelming choice for the site is not even to be visited."

Many Advantages
"It has among others the endorsements of 28 of our 48 state governors. Sincerely urge sites in Philadelphia area at least be inspected. Our recent cable... shows Philadelphia farther from Washington than Paris from Belgium and completely independent of Washington influence."

Meanwhile Arthur C. Kaufmann, department store executive, pointed out that the Philadelphia committee had recommended another site along the Schuylkill in the Roxborough section, virtually outside the city.

"I feel that the U.N.O. committee should at least see what we can provide."

Millions Need Warm Clothing In Foreign Zones

War Stricken Peoples Need Clothing For Courage, Protection, Life

VICTORY COLLECTION WILL AID THOUSANDS

By New Year approximately 25-30,000,000 children, men and women in the liberated countries will have received clothing donated by the American people in the United Nations Victory Collection of last spring. But 25,000,000 is only a small percentage of the destitute, homeless and looted people of Europe, the Philippines and the Far East.

Devastation and want in those lands are on so vast a scale as to be almost beyond our comprehension. Millions there are even now inadequately clad for winter weather for health and for self-protection. It is estimated that in China alone 200,000,000 people need clothing.

Every Walk of Life

Among these threadbare millions there are people of every age and from every walk of life—new-born babies, school boys and girls, aged farm couples, the village choir master, office clerks, doctors, teachers, young mothers, sick and feeble-minded ex-prisoners of war, the nearly hopeless wrecks from slave labor camps, and even newly elected big city officials. Most of them live and work in unheated rooms, for fuel too is still a scarce commodity.

In the bomb-gutted, ruin-strewn lands, peace alone could not bring an end to the war-created shortages in raw material, yard goods, clothing, shoes and bedding. The shipments of clothing that Americans donated were not nearly enough to go around. Yet as these war-sufferers try to rebuild their factories and their lives, they need clothes for courage, protection and survival.

Make Happy New Year

The clothes which were hanging unused in American homes last year and which were gathered together in the nation-wide clothing collection and shipped overseas by UNRRA have made the difference between a hoped-for Happy New Year and no new year at all for many hundreds of thousands of our fellow men overseas. A coat and a pair of shoes—the difference between a warm and a cold winter. A baby's blanket—the difference between a Christmas to celebrate and an empty house.

It was a friendly thing we Americans did—the sharing of what we could spare. It was a token of our good will.

In the victory clothing collection we have the chance to befriend many more boys and girls and men and women—as we have befriended 25,000,000.

When you send a gift to a friend you enclose good wishes. Contributors to the victory clothing collection are encouraged to enclose a friendly message with our gift of clothing.

Watch The News for further information concerning the victory clothing drive.

SUGGEST SIMPLE RULES FOR PRESSING TROUSERS

Keeping men's and boys' wool trousers well-pressed and wearable is a big job for the homemaker and probably one of her hardest jobs in pressing.

When pressing any wool material, the main thing to remember is to always use a damp cloth on top of the garment and to stop pressing before the cloth is entirely dry. Pressing after the steam stops rising will cause wool fabric to feel stiff and harsh and may even make it shiny. Garments made of hard-twist materials, such as serge, gabardine, and worsteds, are likely to become shiny with wear without increasing the shine through pressing.

To remove or prevent the shine during pressing, remove the pressing cloth while steam is still rising and brush the fabric vigorously with a whisk broom or stiff clothesbrush. Softer fabrics, such as flannels and tweeds, need the same steaming and brushing to raise the nap and maintain the soft, fuzzy appearance. The following procedure may be used in pressing:

1. Place the top of the trousers over the end of the ironing board and press as described above. Press all around the waistline including the pocket and pockets. Remove from the board.
2. Lay one leg on board with bagginess at knee uppermost. Cover with the damp pressing cloth and steam just the knee portion to shrink out the fullness. Repeat the same procedure on other leg.
3. Hold the trousers by the bottom, matching the cuffs. The seams should match the whole length of the leg. Lay the trousers flat on the ironing board in this position. Fold back the top leg over the top of the trousers. This leaves the crotch side of the under leg exposed.
4. Press the trouser leg using a damp cloth, then turn trousers over carefully to retain the crease, and press the outer side in the same way.
5. Press the other leg being careful not to muss the pressed parts.
6. Hang the trousers by the cuffs in a trousers hanger and allow to dry thoroughly before wearing.

RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is a word which is used to name a good many different things.

All sorts of aches and pains are called rheumatism. Sometimes a shoulder becomes dislocated or out of joint and the sufferer thinks he has rheumatism.

He may have locomotor ataxia or tuberculosis or some other law-breaking disease and call it rheumatism.

His knee may swell like a cabbage and he will call it rheumatism when it is due to syphilis.

So called rheumatism should be investigated very carefully. Sometimes the cause may be found and helpful treatment provided.

Cure all and balm and charms and liniments are usually like shooting in the dark.

VETERANS' STATE AID

Pennsylvania led the way in a number of war activities. The service men's voting act was considered a model over the country. Pennsylvania has gone beyond other states in the matter of aiding needy ex-service men.

In the job of A. Lewis, Conn. director of Veterans' affairs for the county, returned veterans and their families have been aided in getting problems settled for the past year.

The state has a relief set-up for men who need aid and while it has been used but little, it has helped in the few cases where it was asked. Under the allowances for service men, a man who is married and has two children is allowed about $30 per month. Of this $31 is for food, $10 per month is allowed for rent, $12 per month for clothing, and a quart of milk per day for the family.
